The vice import/export people. (This was one way to get to the friend)

Living in the port area was helpful for people in his profession. It had been renovated and he was one of the first to buy a unit in his building.

In terms of communist literature he had reached Up to [illegible]

There was a market for fried racoon meat, there [illegible] privatization of the [illegible] grocery shops, the by now complete dominance of the supermarkets and the rise of the people in the underground, [illegible]

The government followed a policy of strategic areas of society, called [illegible] under which all sectors were opened to private companies.

He was paid in cash (large bundles of cryptographic money, [illegible] brown envelopes) [illegible] kept in thick, [illegible]

He has a moustache.

He knew a strip(tease) girl called Sky / ~~S~~ky candy.
He also knew a weird guy who described himself as a "space pacifist". *

When we still lived in a house we had to protect the vegetables from the beasts.
Great deforastation...

I took a liking to snow shrimps and snow milk (products from the Northern regions)

We often ~~had~~ fish dinners. We also ordered regularly.

Full hair, worn slicked back, he looked like an Irish gangster. With dry hair he ~~looked~~ had the Mulder look and looked much younger, like a child.

He changed clothes in toilets.

He talked about chile comm unism.

They went to the museum. Ovesized painting in room with grotesq high ceilings. Modern art. (abstract, cubism)

During a social event she thought he looked particularly cool: black hoodie, jeans jacket pale blue with white fur, plain Adidas jogging pants (black-gray-blue) sitting on a black leather some strange cubic stool. [black shoes crossed legs] some Chelsea gallery. Technical documents reading.

One of ~~this~~ most exclusive experiences: Triad house.

The Chinese celebrated New Year but he didn't know ~~what~~ their ~~attitude~~ was on the topic of Christmas.

The people who were addicted to drugs were called "[redacted] demons"

The government wanted to reintroduce the [redacted] old checks that were anonymous (bonds?)

The large cities had powerful administrations which were sometimes designated as "city governments". In fact trade free zones, exempted from regular laws like taxes, prospered in many. Some planes functioned that way for example by flying empty, needless flights...

Thanks to his Greek liberal education he was able to [redacted] process most of the [redacted] information by the govehrment in the right categories, [redacted] including the so-called [redacted] gpuec payments mentioned before.

For Those with a bad addiction the space were the cheap drugs.

His contribution was to have designed a drug with the specifications of cocaine in pill form that Marxists, intellectuals, the elite agreed to. Described as "synthetic"...

(It corresponded to the ideals of a harmless drug better than controlled or dosed LSD.)

LSD was the drug of the social society.
His drug was the drug of the atomic society.

He wondered wether it was possible to describe the living organism as a computer purely.

At my previous work they used a template called "real synchronization"

- Poverty has disappeared.
- The ghetto has practically become non existent.
- It's not a compliment to say that this has been due to the renovation of our city.
- Due to the 6911 law...

Some few things that could apply to Caramel:

- University of Cuba. She had gone there or spent a year as an exchange student.

- She had worked at Harvard Press as an employee.

- Boston Port or Princeton.

- Virgil or UC
